OPINION OF HIRAN MAXIM.

London, April 21.—The Daily Mail has published an interview with Hiran Maxim, inventor of the Maxim gun, in the course of which he is described as saying that both America and Spain have purchased war material to the utmost from his firm, and that if he had had the material he could have sold ten times as much. "The coming war," he says, "will be a great test for modern weapons and inventions. I believe it will prove the superiority of the Maxim gun, and that this type is in fact the best fighting machine yet produced. So far as torpedoes are concerned, I am positive that no Spanish torpedo will get north of Cape Hatteras. According to my idea the torpedo boats will be the mercy of fast cruisers like the Columbia of the Brooklyn."

IS THIS RECOGNITION?

Washington, April 21.—The statement is made on high authority that Thomas Estrada Palma, the representative of the Cuban republic in this country, in company with one of the brigadiers in Gomez's army, has been in consultation with Gen. Miles, arranging for co-operation in the conduct of the campaign in Cuba against Spain.

This is taken as a virtual recognition of the Cuban republic. It is stated that Palma was summoned here for this conference.

CHICAGO REJOICED.

Chicago, April 21.—As soon as the news was received here yesterday of the president signing the Cuban resolution and the ultimatum of Spain, the entire city was electrified, and the action of the president was commended to the people of Chicago and elsewhere by the blowing of whistles and the ringing of bells.

SPANIARDS STILL HOPEFUL OF SUCCESS.

Key West, April 21, 3:48 p. m.—The gulf squadron sailed at 2:45 this afternoon.

It is believed the squadron will bombard Morro Castle tonight, and will certainly do so if the port at Havana is not successfully blockaded as hoped for by the navy department.

Washington, April 21, 3:49 p. m.—Flying Squadron sails before 4 o'clock for Havana. It may bombard Morro Castle before daylight. Has been told to do so if not captured.

Spain officially announces war, and its fleet is now moving to meet our ships on the high seas.

Later—4:00 p. m.—It is probable that the flying squadron will be held for fear Spain's fleet trying to get to the New York harbor unmolested. Schley has orders to sail tomorrow. It is thought he goes to New York coast.

Spain is full of fight and many warlike moves have been made by this government. This city is the scene of the greatest excitement ever known here.

The United States is at war with Spain.

A state of war has virtually existed for several days; only actual hostilities have been delayed by the hope that peace might be reached by some form of diplomacy.

The passage of the Joint Cuban resolutions by Congress was in reality war board, and orders hostile movements of our fleets today.

The Key West squadron goes to blockade Havana. The other flying squadron goes to Porto Rico, and the auxiliary fleets to aid in backing up the larger fleets.

Every movement and order is with the knowledge that war is upon us.

Washington, April 21, 11:32 a. m.—It is said that Minister Woodford made a serious blunder in allowing so much time to elapse after getting the ultimatum, and before presenting it to the Spanish cabinet, this causing his summary dismissal from Spain. He gave the Spanish minister here time to cable the contents of the ultimatum. The ultimatum cannot be gotten to Spain now, as the diplomatic relations have been severed. War will either be declared today or the blockade to Havana begun. The situation has reached the climax.

Washington, April 21, 11:02 a. m.—Congress is asked to make an open declaration of war today. Leading members of the house and senate have been called for a conference with the President. It is believed that this policy has been agreed on and that war will be declared before night.

Washington, April 21, 11 a. m.—Extra here this morning print cables from Woodford, saying that he has presented ultimatum to Sagasta; that he was given his passports and notified that diplomatic relations between the United States and Spain are severed.

Spain is standing firm.

FIRST ACT OF WAR.

Madrid, April 21.—The Spanish papers today enthusiastically approve the action of Premier Sagasta in giving Minister Woodford his passports and claim that Spain's refusal to accept the United States' ultimatum was the first act of war.

Spain is today ablaze with excitement at the approach of hostilities. Today the Queen Regent is the idol of the Spanish people and all talk of a Carlist revolution seems to be forgotten.

ANOTHER HANNIBAL.

Madrid, April 21.—Advices from Cadiz yesterday say the commander of the new Spanish squadron now being formed there recently visited the Shrine of the Virgin with his men, and there addressed the crews of the ships, offering the choice of remaining behind to whoever felt fear. The crews it is added, unanimously declared that they preferred to go to battle, whereupon the Spanish commander and his men knelt and took a solemn vow never to return to Spain unless victorious.

Washington, April 21, 1:30 p. m.—War has been virtually declared. The climax is reached. The president is acting under the advice of the held a long conference yesterday with Gov. Bradley in regard to the mustering of new companies. Col. Gaither said he thought it certain that the Paris, Maysville and Nalgaville companies would be mustered in at once. Other companies would be mustered in if the call for 80,000 troops was made.

Col. Gaither said that if the call for 80,000 men were made this would take the First and Second regiments. If a call for 80,000 men was made it would take 2,000 Kentucky soldiers, and new companies and members of old militia would be called on.

After a conference with the Governor Gen. Collier, Col. Gaither, Major Allen, of Lexington, Lieut. Howard Gaines and Capt. Julian Kersey, of the Bradley Guard, had a conference in Gen. Collier's office for arranging details. Col. Gaither said he looked for a call not later than Friday. The Louisville Legion will be first called and the Second regiment next.

SPANISH FLEET SAILS.

Washington, April 21.—War is now upon us. Spain's fleet sailed last night from St. Vincent for an unknown destination. American men-of-war are on the lookout for them, and also in readiness for the work to move on Cuban ports. The first shot remains to be fired as a necessary prelude, in the mind of the President to a formal declaration of war.

But when he signed the act of congress yesterday calling for forcible intervention and dispatched an ultimatum to Spain he knew full well that war must follow.

WILL NOTIFY THE POWERS.

Washington, April 21, 2:10 p. m.—The President will probably notify the Powers this afternoon that a state of war exists with Spain.

GARY RESIGNS.

Washington, April 21.—Postmaster General Gary resigned today on account of ill health. Charles Emory Smith, editor of the Philadelphia Press, will probably be his successor in the cabinet.

TRANSPORTING TROOPS.

Washington, April 21.—Arrangements are being made by the War Department for the transportation of troops from Southern ports to Cuba, and it is expected that they will be perfected tomorrow or soon thereafter. Col. A. S. Kimball, Chief Quartermaster of the East, will open his New York today for the charter of steam vessels for this important service. The government will have no difficulty in securing a sufficient number of first-class steam vessels for the transportation of the army to be sent to Cuba.

Among the companies which have offered vessels to the government for this service are the following: Iron steamboat Co. of New York City—Taurus, capacity 2000 passengers; Cetus, 1800; Perseus, 1,800; Pegasus, 1,800.

Plant system at Tampa—Mascotte, 1000; Olivette, 1000; Florida, 1000. Cape May and Delaware Bay Navigation Co. at Philadelphia—Republic, 2000.

New York and Texas Steamship Co. at New York City—Colorado, 1000; Leona, 1000; Alamo, 1000; Lampasas, 1000.

Southern Pacific Co. of New York—Aransas, 1000; Guadalupe, 1000; Morgan, 1000; Whitney, 1000.

COMING HOME TODAY.

London, April 21.—The Madrid correspondent of the Daily Mail telegraphing at 11 o'clock last evening, says:

Gen. Woodford's family left tonight by the ordinary express for Biarritz. The American minister himself has taken tickets for the south of France express tomorrow. He has received extensive dispatches of instructions.

It is doubtful whether he will have an opportunity of presenting the American ultimatum, since, in all probability, Senor Gullon the foreign minister, will send him his passports at 8 o'clock Thursday morning with a declaration that diplomatic relations between the two governments have been broken off.

Gen. Woodford has handed the archives of the legation to the British minister, where he dined tonight. "The republican minority met this afternoon, and agreed to grant the government whatever measure might be necessary for war. Some uneasiness is felt at the movements of Don Carlos, which are being closely followed. It is asserted that the government will not resort to privateering."

POLO HAS GONE.

Washington, April 21.—The Spanish minister, accompanied by six members of his staff, left Washington at 7:30 o'clock last night, and the Spanish government thus terminated its diplomatic representation in the United States. The minister and his party left by the Pennsylvania road, going northward to Buffalo and Suspension Bridge and thence to Toronto. After spending a few days in Toronto, he will go to Halifax and sail on a British steamer.

INSULTS TO AMERICA.

Montevideo, April 21.—A son of the famous Dictator Santos, who is a Uruguayan naval officer, is now serving on board the Spanish cruiser Vizcaya. Other Uruguayan officers are about to enter the service of Spain in her army and navy.

The police are now guarding the United States consulate in Asuncion, Paraguay. The Spaniards have made demonstrations against the United States. They have been prohibited from burning effigies of President McKinley and other American statesmen.

TRIBUTES OF FLOWERS.

Chicago, April 21.—The Third Infantry, U. S. A., 650 strong, en route from Fort Snelling, Minn., to Mobile, Ala., arrived in this city at 4 a. m. yesterday, over the Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul railway. The cars were transferred to the Pan Handle tracks at the stock yards and resumed the journey south at 9 o'clock. A stop for breakfast was made at Kankakee, Ill.

Thousands of people greeted the soldiers at every station through Minnesota and Wisconsin. At Lake City, Minn., the soldiers were loaded down with flowers. The Union Station at Milwaukee was jammed with enthusiastic people, who waited until 1:30 a. m., being entertained meanwhile by evolutions of the first and second battalions, Wisconsin national guard. Most of the regulars were asleep when their trains reached Milwaukee, but the cheering and music brought them out and they remained up until the trains reached Chicago.

PLAN OF OPERATIONS.

Washington, April 21.—The following plan of operations will be carried out: Havana and other Cuban ports will be blockaded by Capt. Sampson's fleet. Commodore Schley's squadron will look after Porto Rico. This action will be taken promptly after the expiration of the time limit given to Spain. Secretary Long has notified

Adm. Capt. W. T. Sampson, Commander-in-Chief of the North Atlantic squadron, and Commodore W. S. Schley, Commander-in-Chief of the Flying squadron, of the decision which has been reached by the government, and these officers will have the vessels of their fleets in readiness to move the moment the word is given that Spain has declined to meet the demands of President McKinley.

As soon as the blockade is established shipments of food will be sent to Cuba to feed the starving people. If they are fired on the fire will be returned, the forts will be attacked and the war will be on.

From this time forward war preparations will go forward with renewed activity, and both the army and the navy will be put in position for active operations.

ATLANTIC STEAMERS WILL RUN.

Liverpool, April 21.—The officials of the Cunard Steamship Co. here declare there is no truth in the statement that they have decided to change their ports of call. They said that their vessels will continue to sail from here to New York and Boston as heretofore.

At the office of the White Star line it was also announced that the members of that company will continue their steamers if war breaks out between the United States and Spain.

ADMIRAL WALKER THE MAN.

Washington, April 21.—Rear Admiral Walker will probably be called back into service from his retirement. He is now a member of the strategic board, and perhaps is as well acquainted with all the important naval matters now uppermost in the minds of the people as any naval authority. It is said that Admiral Walker was named to the position of Assistant Secretary of the Navy.

Berlin, April 21.—The officials of the foreign office here confirm the report that the Spanish government has asked Germany to sell ordnance and army supplies. They add that the request has been refused.

THE LAWYER'S FEE.

Now a Darky Settled Up a Little Bank and Transacted.

The lawyer was calling attention to the usual unwillingness to pay lawyer his fee, except after a second lawsuit, and told this story by way of illustration:

"A few years ago a colored notician came to me to get me to defend to each of his friends who were under indictment for stealing a dressed pig. I called on the two defendants, both of whom were in captivity at the time. Each confessed that the other had stolen the pig, so I didn't have much hope of acquitting them, but I did my best and brought up proof of previous good character and they went up for a year. One of these colored fellows, and the first one to confess that the other man was guilty, as named Joe. He had been a very energetic worker in the church, his specialities being exhortation and prayer.

"Well, as soon as he had served his year he came home, and the very first Sunday he went to church and took advantage of a pause in the exercises to begin one of his vociferous prayers. The preacher immediately objected told until he had passed through a certain period of penitence and probation. He had just returned from state's prison, where he had served a term of three years, most, and, as a result, more becomingly, than to humble himself and keep in the background. "Instead of adopting the humble and penitent attitude, Joe stood up and declared himself. He claimed that he had a right to ramble in prayer at any time and at any place. It was a privilege which had been denied him for some time, owing to a misapprehension of the criminal code, but now that he was at liberty again he proposed to take part in the public worship of the church. He said that the upshot of it was that they went at him and threw him out of the building." "He came to me to get an injunction, or an 'unjunction,' as he called it. He claimed that he had a right, under the constitution and according to all Biblical laws, to lift his voice in supplication in any company he assembled in worship. I told him that before considering the several aspects of the case, I must first of all call his attention to the fact that he had never paid me for defending him against the charge of stealing a dressed pig. I said that I thought it would be better to clear up the criminal docket before starting in to weigh any of the dogmas of theology. Joe was rather startled. Either he had forgotten entirely that I was supposed to receive something for my services or else he was shocked by the mere suggestion that he would ever pay for anything under any circumstances. "Look here," he said to me, "didn't I even settle 'th' yow faw' so' subsivence to me at 'case'?" I told him that I had no recollection of receiving any money from him. Then he asked, very bravely: "All right, sub, all right, sub; make out a note." And he made fully realize what he meant. "Make out a note," modestly, said. He repeated it, and he was very haughty about it, too. Just to see what he'd do, I wrote it, in the regular form, a note for a note. I came up to the desk with the air of the president of the United States signing an international treaty and laboriously put at the bottom of that note the most wonderful signature you ever saw. Then he turned to me with that patronizing manner which you will always observe in a man who has just given money to another, and said: "Well, say, we got 'at little match all as ticked an' out of the way; now let's get to workin on 'at junction."

"And that's just how a lawyer gets his money in a good many cases," Chicago Warden.

One Woman's Ready Answer.

Here is a story on the fortune teller. One of the female encyclopedias of the past, present and future called at West Helle place residence a few days ago, wanting to tell the fortune of the mistress.

"Madam," said the mind reader, "I can tell everything in your life past, present and to come."

"Then if you can," replied the madame, "tell me what the wit," "why didn't you know that I don't want my fortune told?"

—And the fortune teller retreated under the fire — St. Louis Republic.

"La Creole" Will Restore those Gray Hairs of Yours

WRITTEN AT RANDOM.

The other day a well known citizen of Calicut was entering a Broadway store when he met a stranger who was there, coming out. The latter spoke to him, and the former, who unfortunately is almost blind, replied: "I don't know your name, but I recognize the voice. I will give you $100,000 if you will restore my sight."

The gentleman was thoroughly in earnest, and the unique offer was heard by quite a crowd of people who chanced to be near when the gentleman made it. The most interesting part was that he was in no wise joking. He is wealthy, too, and the offer was made in earnest. The latter, of course, could not professionally notice the proposition, as it was not made according to the code of ethics.

who had a novel as well as a profitable way of getting rid of his counterfeit money," remarked one of the city's leading citizens. "Early in the afternoon he was arrested, and while he was waiting for court to be called.

"There was a good deal of this Kentucky counterfeit money in circulation, and whenever he would find any of it in the drawer, he would call George, the clerk, and instead of taking him to court for accepting it, would in a sort of impressive way say to him, 'George, take this out of a gaudier pool in der trawer.'

"'Ye air, I believe it,' " George would good-naturedly reply. Then nothing further would be said about it that day or may be for several days. Saturday night, however, George was paid off in counterfeit bills.

"That Mr. H. has been paid off,"

"Vell, vell, vat of it?" his employer would retort. "'Ef you dake 'em vonce, you kan dake 'em again."

Then Judge Campbello told one or two. The first was on a well known attorney here. Judge Campbello was sitting on the bench, there was an attorney who had a large practice in his court was making an argument—a powerful argument, as he thought—before him in some case. The judge dozed during the remarks, and finally the attorney became angry at the court's seeming indifference, and shouted in loud and indignant tones, "Does the court know what I'm saying?"

"Yes," he sharply retorted the court, opening his eyes. "You do. I know exactly what you are saying. You know I've heard you so often before."

Judge Campbello also told another on Judge Smedley. He was judge under the old and new constitution, and had run his court pretty much to suit himself. After the new constitution came into effect, there was a case before him, which one of the principals wanted for some reason, to be tried by some other judge.

"Under the old constitution," said Judge Campbello, "there was no such thing as swearing a judge off the bench. This particular litigant knew that under the new constitution there was, and when the case was called, filed his affidavit to the effect that he didn't believe he could get a fair trial, and so he tried to get removed as required by law. The judge was all airt in a moment, and adjourning court and leaving the bench proceeded to resent the insult to his reputation outside the court room. The litigant was taken by surprise, and not being much of a fighter himself, asked to be excused. The court was and explained the provision of the new constitution that gave the man a right to swear him off the bench."

COLORED DEPARTMENT.

We have, from time to time, discussed the rights of the race, but nothing has been said of the rights of the least half of the race, that is, of the children.

Alternately, we caress and scold them: we spoil them and tyrannize over them; we deny them the simplest things, and then shower them with laws upon them. We neglect the first laws of health among them, and then subscribe money for hospitals, kindergartens and orphan's homes.

Fortunately for us grown folk, children are tender of heart, cherish no malice and soon forget a week of neglect or some grievous outrage, in enjoyment of a birthday party, or in the anticipation of a Christmas tree.

But if they could reason about this form of government in the family, if all their charges against their best friends, even some of us who think that we are the best of parents would be surprised.

A child's life is one of alternate wretchedness and happiness. It goes from one extreme to another. Every disappointment seems to it to cast a perpetual shadow over life, for experience has not taught it to hope. Any kindness makes it forget for the time past trouble, but it has left its mark on the character. A condition that causes a child to feel that he is not a healthy one, and people who have attempted to rear children along these lines will fail as sure as they live.

One fact is that neither the law of the home nor the law of the land recognize the child as an individual, and is therefore, in many instances, as valved possessions, perhaps, as the instruments they made for the amusement of an idle hour, to shut up and lock away when we wake up the serious duties of the engraving pleasures of life. That is the position of a child at best.

Now, picture it at the worst, as subjected to the whims and caprices of ill-governed manhood or womanhood living in abject subjection to a tyrant of a household, who has never been taught self-control who knows no law except his own desire, exercising at every fiercest impulse of his passions the most extravagant and unbridled power almost unbearable to wife and child, and in many cases to neighbors and community. The wife can appeal to the courts for protection; the child can only throw itself upon the tender mercies of the world, and go wandering, it knows not where, seeking that love and comfort that is denied it at home.

Just this last condition is not an uncommon case, the records of the police court, the divorce courts, and the number of waifs that yearly year drift into the streets, from there to the gallows and the pen but for it there seems no remedy. The law will not break through the silence that is supposed to surround these houses, and as a result no appeal for justice to the courts can reach such beings.

But, outside of these houses, among the people whose wife and child are thoughtless, but not fond and affectionate, and careless, there are many children who need the consideration we give not only to dumb animals but to individuals, who have thoughts, feelings, hopes and desires which we cannot afford to outrage as we do those of our children daily.

There are children in this city, colored children, that are dogged and driven worse than brutes. At a table with a slave or a child at a table with a slave or a child at a table to be the seat in their person, or polite in their manners. Hundreds never know what it is to keep clean or to know what it is to keep clean, or to appreciate the cleanliness of others. Hundreds never know the nobility of work and hundreds never know what it is to rest from work. We have in mind a child that is day in and day out compelled to do the work of a grown person, Sunday included, and the worse children, with the bruises, swollen and almost inhuman, exhibit gathered from their so-called parents, go through the world calling the seeds of vice and immorality.

We hope our people will look more to the interests of their children. Consider the children not as lilies of the valley, white and spin out, but as human beings in whom each day deepens within a sense of justice and a desire merely for fair play.

BROWN AND BRUNER.

Celebrated Illinois Bank Case Concluded in the Supreme Court at Springfield Yesterday.

The Venerable Bankers at Metropolis at Last Free, After a Hard-Fought Battle. Lightfoot's Victory.

The celebrated case of Brown and Bruner, the erstwhile Metropolis bankers, was finally settled in the supreme court of Illinois at Springfield yesterday, by the court declaring the law under which they were prosecuted to be unconstitutional. The case had been in the courts for some time, and was of no little interest to the people of Southern Illinois.

The defendants are among the most prominent citizens of Metropolis, and had a bank there. Their bank failed, and they were arrested for embezzlement. The case was taken from the circuit court of Illinois to that of Williamson county, and tried at Marion. It was argued there, and the jury brought in a verdict, after being out for a day and a half, adjudging the defendants guilty, and sentencing them to one year in the state penitentiary, in addition to imposing a fine of $500 each.

The defense claimed the law was unconstitutional because it was unreasonable, as well as discriminating. The law is, that if a banker receives money on deposit within 30 days of its failure, he shall be deemed guilty of a felony.

It is thus, sometimes very unjust, as a man's intentions may be good. It is said that the intentions in the above named case were good, but a loan expected on the eve of the failure, was denied them.

Another thing that made the case look quite bad was the fact that Mrs. Bruner, wife of one of the bankers, had a lot of property recorded soon after the bank failure. The truth was, however, that she had always owned the property, and was simply indirect enough to have it recorded at that unpropitious time.

It is further said that the defendants, who had always had the esteem and confidence of their fellow citizens, gave up what little they had to pay out. Mrs. Bruner did not give up any of her property, however, which may have occasioned some little comment.

Attorney E. T. Lightfoot, of the city, was attorney for the defense, and has won a victory of which he may well feel proud. His clients were yesterday ordered discharged from custody, but they had never been incarcerated. This decision knocks out the Southern Illinois bank law.

Don't forget the Special Sale at Noah's Ark tomorrow and Saturday.

St. Vincent, Cape Verde Islands, April 21.—The Spanish fleet now in the harbor consists of the Viscaya and Oquendo, from Porto Rico; three torpedo boat destroyers, Pluton, Terror and Furor; three torpedo boats, Bayo, Arrete and Asor; the battleship Infanta Maria Teresa and Cristobal Colon and two transports, Ciudad de Cadix and San Francisco.

The last named vessel arrived Monday with a cargo of coal, which is being distributed among the fighting ships today.

The Spanish think this fleet is quite a match for the American flying squadron. News from Cadix says the following vessels are concentrating there:

The battleship Pelayo, cruisers Emperador, Carlos V., Cardinal Cisneros, Numancia, Victoria, Principe de Asturias, Alfonso XIII., Decimioctober Maria and Marquis de Molina, three torpedo destroyers and three torpedo boats.

A strong force of marines has been distributed among the fleets, including three battalions which have just returned from hard service in the Philippine Islands.
